

Sue Stokoe, the Head Teacher has been an active member of this group since it started back in 2011. Meetings were held in Portcullis House in those days but moved to central Westminster rooms as the fight for the future sustainability of the country's 400 nursery schools became urgent.

Politicians From all parties attend and MP's are encouraged to support the nursery schools in their areas. The meetings are termly in Westminster. In the last meeting, we were happy to greet the new education minister for early years Nadhim Zahawi.
